I believe this is the first time an Appomattox herd has been in the top 50 since Billy Hall of several years ago. A significant change in the Soil Fertilizer Law will take effect July 1, On this date the tonnage will be on an open grade basis. This means that fertilizer companies are free to produce and market any fertilizer they wish to choose.

Monroe Dyess purchased nine excellent crossbred gilts from Jim Newhoff last week.

He was able to select these gilts from a group of 174. I don't know of a better place to buy crossbred replacements. They have been using some real fine boars.

This operation is down in Wythe County. They farrow 150 sows and feed out the pigs. They are averaging 8.2 pigs weaned per litter. It's a two man operation. The pigs never see daylight until they're loaded on trucks for the trip to slaughter.

Abbitt Opposition Visits Here

Ben Ragsdale of Petersburg, candidate for Representative in the 4th District was a visitor in Appomattox Tuesday. He and his wife are making a tour of news media and shaking hands throughout the sprawling 4th district. Ragsdale is young (26) on leave from his work as a consultant to state health organization. His wife is a high school teacher, also on leave to help with the campaign. How does he feel about coming right into veteran incumbent Walt Abbitt's home territory? "I want to meet all the people of the 4th district" was his spirited reply.

Jones on behalf of the wives of the group, a three-tier cake, Mrs. John D. Johnson presented a beautiful placard of the number fourteen made out of one dollar bills in the amount of $52.00 on behalf of the wives and friends of the Trumpteers. Remarks and special words of welcome were extended by Rev. R. Q. Lawing on behalf of the school. The benediction was announced by the Rev. J. W. Paige.

Guy Coleman Harris

Guy Coleman Harris, 60, of Rt. 5, Lynchburg, died Tuesday night.

Born in Appomattox, he was the son of John W. Harris and Corrine Coleman Harris. A retired employe of the U. S. Post Office Department where he worked for 40 years, he was a member of College Hill Baptist Church.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Rebecca Brandon Harris; a daughter, Mrs. Walker Jung of Baltimore, Md.; two sisters, Mrs. Fleming Martin and Mrs. R. L. Harris of Appomattox, and two grandchildren.

The family is at the residence. Whitten Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

HYBRID SEED IS OFFERED

Responding to questions concerning its seed situation for next spring's planting season, DeKalb AgResearch, Inc. announced that it expects to have significant quantities of hybrids highly resistant to Race "T" of the Southern Corn Leaf Blight (Helminthosporium maydis). Resistance has been achieved in two ways: first, most modern hybrids with normal cytoplasm (produced by detasseling) are highly resistant; second, some hybrids show a marked degree of genetic resistance even with sterile cytoplasm. Susceptibility has been traced to the use of the Texas male sterile cytoplasm commonly used by all corn companies.

DeKalb's seed supply situation is this. For the hard hit southeastern states, the company is taking emergency measures to provide a supply of resistant hybrids in quantities exceeding last year's sales in the area.

Southern Corn Leaf Blight should pose few problems in 1972 as DeKalb plans to switch completely to detasseled production of seed in 1971 and expects to be able to more than meet the needs of the market.
